

An Epitaph.

Ah three-score winters and I died,
A cheerless being, sole and sad;
The nuptial knot I never tied,
And wish my father never had.